

Grow audience, improve revenue with data driven applications and marketing services designed specifically for newspapers.

Your newspaper serves increasingly splintered audiences. They often choose the information they want — and control how and when they get it. Still, their connections with you provide data that can improve your newspaper's subscriber relationships, which increases revenue and provides your advertising clients value.

At the same time, your advertisers look to you to help them deliver programs that creates stickier bonds with their customers.

That's where Marketing G2 comes in.

- We offer tools that collect, manage, and integrate critical data.
- We apply that data to effectively designed strategies, generating measurable and immediate results that improve your newspaper's bottom line — and help your advertisers develop stronger relationships with their customers.
